

DESTINY OF CHAMBER OF COMMERCE WILL BE DETERMINED

Directors of Maysville Chamber of Commerce to Meet Friday Evening To Arrange for Election of Officers.

The destiny of the Maysville Chamber of Commerce may be determined at a meeting of the directors of that institution which has been called for 7 o'clock Friday evening at the Chamber of Commerce building.

This is the regular time for the election of officers for that institution and while there has been little done by the Chamber as an organization during the past year, Mr. George Kirk, who has been acting as secretary of the organization, and the directors have been enabled to keep the organization alive and by means of the big Corn and Tobacco Fair they have been enabled to gather quite a neat sum in the treasury.

After all debts of the Chamber have been paid, it is understood that there is about fifteen hundred dollars in the treasury. This is the first time in years that the Chamber of Commerce has closed a year with such a splendid sum in the treasury and the outlook is much brighter than for some time.

The meeting Friday evening is for the purpose of considering the future policy of the organization and for arranging for the annual election of officers which will probably be held some time next week. Whether it will be best to have a big get-together meeting for the annual election will be thoroughly discussed. These get-together meetings in the past have proven very beneficial to the organization and to the city and it is likely that such a meeting will be arranged Friday.

UNSIGNED COMMUNICATION COMPLAINS OF DISEASE.

Mayor Thomas M. Russell has received through the mail an unsigned communication complaining of a peculiar disease which is epidemic in Maysville at the present time. The symptoms of the disease are sleepy feeling. The writer fears an attack of the White Plague and advises X-Ray examinations of the sufferers. 8Dec11

GOOD AUDIENCE HEARS REV. E. R. OVERLY

Revival at Third Street M. E. Church Is Progressing Satisfactorily—"Consecration" Was There.

"Consecration" was the theme of Rev. Overly's sermon at the revival at Third Street M. E. Church last evening. He used the familiar exhortation of St. Paul to the church at Rome, "I beseech you therefore, brethren, by the mercies of God, to present your bodies, a living sacrifice, holy, acceptable to God, which is your reasonable service." In his sermon he made it very plain that the progress of the church is retarded to a great extent by the failure of its members to make the "complete sacrifice." "The joy of salvation only comes by a full and complete surrender of ourselves to God." The minister's appeal for such a congregation was very impressive and should bring results throughout these meetings.

The best congregation of the week was out. More are attending each evening. Remember the hour of service—7 o'clock. Come this evening and hear a message that will make you want to live better.

Only a short time, then Christmas. Make your selections early. Will reserve any article until Christmas. Chas. W. Thaxel & Co. 8Dec11

RED CROSS SEAL CAMPAIGN STARTS IN EARNEST TODAY

Fifty Women in Mason County Will Sell Stamps to Help Stamp Out the White Plague in Kentucky—Meeting Friday Afternoon.

TUBERCULOSIS

CHRISTMAS SEALS

The active campaign for the sale of 1920 Red Cross Christmas Seals for the benefit of the Anti-Tuberculosis Association of the state began in Mason county in real earnest this morning and will continue until Christmas Eve. The committee, which is headed by Miss Frances Barbour, is expecting Mason county to patronize the campaign liberally because of the special interest in stamping out the dread White Plague in Mason and adjoining counties.

The canvassing committee in Mason county is composed of fifty of our prominent women. These women hope to visit practically every home in Mason county and they also expect to establish selling agencies in the local banks, postoffice, hotel lobbies, railroad stations and other public places. Miss Barbour, the chairman, will be at the Health League Headquarters in Court street Friday evening from 4:30 to 5 o'clock at which time she will be glad to meet any of the workers to answer any questions or assist in any way that she can.

People of Maysville and Mason county are urged to use these little seals liberally this year on their mail and on their Christmas gift boxes.

TWO NEW NATIONS MEMBERS OF LEAGUE

Luxemburg and Finland Are Admitted To Membership In the League of Nations.

Geneva, Dec. 8. — The League of Nations Assembly Committee on the Admission of New States today decided in favor of admitting Luxemburg and Finland into the League of Nations.

The question of the admission of the Baltic States and Albania was put over for future consideration.

Plans propose for the formation of the technical organization of the League of Nations, dealing with finance, health and transportation, were sharply attacked at today's assembly by Newton Wesley Rowell former President of the Canadian Privy Council.

These plans, the Canadian Minister contended, tended to take such organizations out of the hands of the assembly, which should control them, and throw them under the influence of Europe through the impossibility of the non-European nations sending their best men to three or four conferences annually.

"Fifty thousand Canadian soldiers under the sod in Europe is the price Canada has paid for the European statesmanship, which drenched the continent in blood," Mr. Rowell exclaimed.

The Canadian ex-minister's energetic intervention in the debate took the assembly by surprise. Most of the European delegates gave no signs of recovery from their astonishment as the Canadian delegate concluded, but he was warmly applauded from all the other benches.

START WORK AT RAISING SIDEWALK.

It appears that the Star Produce company is going to lose no time in the erection of their building. Council adopted the ordinance changing the grade of the sidewalk in front of their property Wednesday evening and this morning Contractor Dawson and his men started work tearing up the old walk.

COUNCIL ADOPTS WALK GRADE ORDINANCE.

At an adjourned meeting of City Council held Wednesday evening an ordinance changing the grade of the sidewalk in front of the Star Produce Company's property was presented and adopted.

EXPLODING COAL OIL CAN BURNS MR. ELMER SCOTT

Plumtown Citizen Is Badly Burned When Pouring Oil On Open Fire—Fire Is Extinguished.

Elmer Scott, 24, employee of the C. & O. Railroad company, was painfully burned at his home in Plumtown near the plant of the Standard Oil Company last night when a can of coal oil from which he was pouring oil onto a fire exploded in his hands and the blaze spread over his body.

The blaze spread to the paper on the wall in the house and Mr. Scott had presence of mind enough to throw himself on the bed and wrap himself in the bed clothing extinguishing the blaze and then set about to extinguish the blaze in the house.

Mr. Scott was severely burned about the hands, arms and face but the interior of the house was little damaged.

COLVIN SAYS SCHOOLS HAVE LOST THOUSANDS

Failure of Superintendents to Obey Law Is Expensive, Says School Head.

Frankfort, Ky., Dec. 9. — Failure of county school superintendents in the past to report each railroad, telegraph, telephone, pipe-line, interurban and other public service corporations running through any graded school district, has caused the schools to be robbed of thousands of dollars, according to a statement by the Superintendent of Public Instruction George Colvin. The law requires the superintendents to make such reports to the railroads, who in turn must include them in the returns to the tax commission.

Superintendent Colvin says: "This does not seem to have been done in the past, and corporations have escaped paying taxes that graded school districts were legitimately entitled to receive."

Each superintendent is requested by Superintendent Colvin to send him at once the boundaries of all graded school districts in their county, with the name of the railroad company, the telegraph company, the telephone company, the express company, the pipe-line company, the interurban line company or other public service corporations running through each and every one of these districts. Superintendent Colvin says that if he can get this information before the tax commission by January 1, it will mean the recovery of tremendous sums of money for school purposes.

There was no business transacted in Circuit Court today.

GREAT SUM IS PAID RAILROADS BY GOVERNMENT

Federal Government Turns Staggering Sum Over to Railroads Who Want More.

Washington, December 9. — More than $312,000,000 was turned over to the railroads by the Government in the form of advances on the guaranty provisions of the transportation act and in loans between the last of March and the first part of November, according to figures sent to Congress today by Secretary Houston. Action to compel the Treasury to advance about $400,000,000 more now is pending in the District of Columbia Supreme court on mandamus proceedings instituted by the carriers. Up to November 13, the Secretary said, the Interstate Commerce commission certified for payment to the Treasury advances totaling $256,524,874, on which payments aggregating $250,485,374 were made. Up to November 9, he stated, certificates for loans amounting to $102,812,785 had been received and an aggregate of $81,621,850 had been made. According to an estimate submitted by the commission, the Secretary said, the total amount necessary to make good the guaranty provision of the transportation act will approximate $600,000,000.

The regular weekly band practice will be held at the band room this evening at 7 o'clock. All members of the band are urged to attend to practice for the Christmas concert.

OUR POLICY

To support such measures as are unquestionably for the good of Mason County as an entire community, rather than such propositions as are in favor of the individual interest, or of one section as against another. And likewise to earnestly and consistently oppose all things that are not for the good of the County as a whole.

BUSINESS? FINE, IF WE MAKE IT SO.

Business is the barometer of our every-day existence and whether or not business is good or bad has to do dominantly with whether or not we are tranquil in mind or uncomfortable in anxiety. This is not the ideal view of life, in fact it is essentially material, but none the less it is true. Daily, hourly, men meet men almost uniformly with the greeting, "How's business?" Women do not put it in these words but largely their conversation is about interests and conditions that are intimately related with the ups and downs of business. This state of mind is elemental. In some form or other business holds all that affects our material living. And however altruistic we may be, it remains that physical being is sustained primarily by physical production.

Just now business is bad. Even we who have little to do with exchange, the buying and selling, the producing and consumption of that which makes for big business can not but be aware that all is not well in the world of trade and barter of all sorts and in all countries. Everybody is talking about it and not all are talking cheerfully. In itself this may be bad business, but it is very natural conduct. It is anxious expression among ourselves concerning that in which we are vitally interested. And after all it may not be altogether bad business to take note of discouraging phases. It may lead to such accord of judgment, such agreement of sentiment, such concert of endeavor as will quickly bring about a betterment of conditions. That sort of anxiety is wholesome, the anxiety that provokes to action. But just to be pessimistic and gloom about in idleness or make matters worse by contention of interests among individuals or classes, instead of getting together in mutuality of interests, makes bad matters worse.

The end of the old year approaches and the advent of the new appears in the offing. It is a time for invoice and balance sheets. Analyzing retrospect, a casting up of old accounts, and then thoughtful, discerning, looking forward program in opening new accounts, constitute a proper attitude of mind. Experts tell us that the worst of the present is much better than the bad of other like periods in history. That makes for fortitude. They also tell us that we have really weathered the storm and now ride in the harbor fairly safe if some restless, impatient, inconsiderate elements of us do not start commotion of sufficient proportions to rough up the waters and rock the boat dangerously.

This being the case, it seems a time to sit steady and smile. After all there is a real consolation in the reflection that poor business is simply a condition precedent to good business.

CONGRESS ADDRESSES ITSELF TO GRACEFUL DEMISE

There are several matters of importance for early attention of Congress and Congress is in session. That would seem to promise action, but in reality it doesn't. This is a dying Congress and its demise is due with the inaugural. That is a fact that may or may not add to the rejoicing of this season of joyousness just a people have respect or disrespect for the solons now in the shadows of solonial dissolution. Yet Congress is not sick. Its going will be by execution of law, constitutionally applied, and the character of the execution in no degree precludes the full functioning of this body to the very conclusion of its life.

That being the case, Congress can have a try at establishing peace by formal proclamation or resolution; can repeal all war legislation not by that act automatically repealed; can take up the budget bill which President Wilson killed for them; can start tax revision; can do something about immigration, the canal free tolls matter, revision of Federal Trade Commission Act. These and like matters are at its disposal, even action on the League of Nations covenant if President Wilson will again send it over. Then there is relief for the farmer and the financier, with further concessions to industry and helpful boosts to commerce.

Congress can do one or more of these things by forgetting all the others and putting the Congressional mind hard to it. But Congress will not. Constitutionally doomed to die with the dying administration, Congress will devote the remaining days of life to the graceful leaving of it. But with the new deal will come the new Congress, full of life, eager, enthusiastic, earnest. The President will early call it to the saving of the country and promptly it will respond. Meantime the country will just have to live on faith, hope and charity.

SMUGGLING REDS.

It is frequently remarked that the place to examine immigrants is at the port of debarkation, so that the undesirables may be saved the return trip. But examination at the port of debarkation will amount to nothing until we have the right kind of examiners there to protect the interests of the United States. The Wilson administration has had too much sympathy for the class of agitators the United States does not need.

WILDCAT STOCK.

The Treasury is the holder of $50,000,000, par value, of stock of the Emergency Fleet Corporation. It would tax the wisdom of the most astute financier to guess the value of this stock today if it were sold on the market, in view of recent disclosures of Shipping Board transactions.

That labor take up voluntarily a proportionate part in the bearing of living cost reduction is a natural suggestion coming from the employing class in industry that does no violence to the logic of the situation.

Prices are going down, and the income tax is going up to meet them.

New York Letter

by Lucy Jeanne Price

New York. — What will become of the cabarets under prohibition? That was the question anxious New Yorkers and still more anxious out-of-towners asked each other even a few short months ago. The general prophecy was that they would struggle a while and then gaspingly fade away. One more little joke on the soothsayer! The poor one did. Or else they clung on through cultivating a state of amnesia as regards the eighteenth amendment—and a day to lucky in outguessing the enforcers of their killoy. It took something more than coffee and a desire to stay out late at night to enable anybody to live through them, much less pay for the privilege. But the good ones—ringside seats are, if anything, more at a premium there than in those b.p. days, and the joie de vivre within their flare of lights is as jolious as it ever was. Jammed to the guards pretty nearly every night and on holiday nights or pre-holiday nights, the guards themselves are hardly sufficient to keep the jam within bounds. They've had to make them a bit better than in the old days, but they've done it. They are not only holding their own place in the job of cheering the public but they're substituting for the pseudo cher of the past.

An honest man and an honest wife are proven to the world in Francis Hackett's dedication of his new book of essays. It reads: "To my Wife, Signe Toksvig, whose lack of interest in this book has been my constant desperation."

Raymond Hitchcock is finding Broadway too peaceable since the "Roaring Forties" have had to calm down under prohibition and additional traffic police. So he's turning back to the interest of his earlier days. He is going to take hold once more of the old Chinatown theater in Pell street, of which he was one time the backer. He abandoned it several years ago after a long war had killed off two of his best actors. But apparently it is the renewal of long war rumors down there which have revived his interest. He will produce Chinese classics there and he will not venture to display any of the "Chinese" plays which have been impressing uptown audiences during the past two or three seasons.

From a Thanksgiving dinner of the "Well Fed Husbands" Association, one would naturally be in an expansive mood and be interested in some way of expressing one's thanksgiving to the world in general. John Murray, not being truly a "well fed husband" because of having no wife, was a special guest of honor at the dinner, and he felt keenly his obligation to the feminine world in general after leaving the banquet. Consequently — "My girl wanted that fur coat so I went and got it," he told the policeman who arrested him a few hours later for smashing a Sixth avenue store window and extracting the coat therefrom. The officer, not yet that day having been well-fed, was unsympathetic.

Anyone who believes that New York is hard hearted ought to say a word to William George Jordan, the bachelor who wrote "Little Problems of Married Life." Mr. Jordan uses a crutch, and the other day when he had been walking a bit more strenuously than usual, he paused to mop his brow. While mopping with one hand, he held his hat in the other. And a kindly passerby dropped in a quarter.

"Young Visitors," the story by the nine-year-old Daily Ashford, has proven itself exceedingly better material for a play than most of its readers believed it could be. As produced at the 39th Street Theater, it has the interest of a phantasm, which comes close enough to reality to be really good burlesque of actual life. It takes one a few minutes to get into the mood of it, but after that, it was decidedly enjoyable.

It seems the natural thing to think of the Atlantic Ocean as a not very populous place—so far as human beings are concerned. But one of the large steamship companies has recently announced figures showing its average daily human population to be 2,800,000 persons.

CLAIM EMIGRANTS ROBBED BY N. Y. STEAMSHIP AGENCY.

A systematic scheme for robbing poor and ignorant foreigners purchasing steamship tickets, has apparently been exposed by "Magyar Banyaszlap," a Hungarian weekly, published in New York, which printed in a recent issue the affidavit of a man who was employed as a confidential clerk by a New York banker engaged in the steamship ticket and money forwarding business. While thus employed, he states that he saw foreigners, shamefully cheated and robbed by this firm, and was compelled, himself, to take part in it.

This banker, says the affidavit, spent thousands of dollars advertising in foreign language papers. When a reply was received, the customer was promised service in securing all necessary passports and tickets, and informed that he must make an advance payment of $30. A week before sailing, he was brought to New York, and there again assured that everything necessary to his departure would be attended to, while at the same time a few more dollars were collected for various imaginary services.

The affidavit further states that while offices for conducting ordinary business were maintained on the ground floor, there was also a secret office in the basement. A few hours before the time of departure, after the emigrants' natural impatience had been goaded to frenzy by their being told that the necessary permits and tickets could not be obtained—though they were already in the firm's hands—they were herded into the basement office and informed that accommodations had at last been secured, though at an increased rate.

Enclosed securely behind steel bars, says the affidavit, and armed with revolvers in case of attack by outraged customers, the affiant and other clerks, at the specific instructions of their employer, sold the half-frantic emigrants their tickets at an excess of from $25 to $30, and forced each one to buy 2000 kronen at from three to four times the normal rate of exchange, and 200 lire at twice the current rate. Most of the customers fully realized that they were being cheated, says the affidavit, but, desperate to get away, usually paid these last-minute overcharges.

Besides printing this affidavit, "Magyar Banyaszlap" now excludes the banker's advertising from its pages, as do "Amerikai Futar," the first paper to attack him, and "Elore" and "Amerikai Magyar Nepszava," all Hungarian New York papers.

Slang is by no means of modern date, being well-known in the classic ages of Greece and Rome. Numerous examples occur in the writings of Martial, Arifophones, Terence and others.

Why Should Tobacco Be Graded By the Growers at Home?

FIRST—Because the Warehousemen cannot get enough experienced Tobacco men, they have to employ men who work at other trades, such as Carpenters, Painters and Engineers for nine months in the year and never see tobacco until it comes on the Warehouse floor.

SECOND—A Load of Tobacco with all the grades separated carefully can be unloaded and put on Baskets at the Warehouse door in one-half the time, and the Grower will get back home much quicker than ever before.

THIRD—The Manufacturers' Buyer has argued for years, that Tobacco should be graded by the Grower, not by inexperienced Labor at the Loose Leaf Warehouse.

FOURTH—The large Loose Leaf Market, such as Lexington, never have graded Tobacco for the Growers.

FIFTH—It does not save the Warehousemen any Labor, as they will continue to furnish men to unload each wagon as heretofore.

SIXTH—Who has always gotten the HIGHEST PRICE for their Tobacco? The Grower, who takes the most pains stripping, who sorts it himself, brings it to the Market, just as he wants it put on the basket and sold.

SEVENTH—We are glad to say, We will have more buyers than ever. We will keep Tobacco moving quicker, and give Growers better service, and will be as always the Market of Northern Kentucky and Ohio.

You Can't Take It With You

The money and property which you have accumulated during your life must in time pass on to someone else. You cannot take it with you. Now is the time to arrange for it to be distributed according to your wishes. If you fail to do this the law will do it for you, but not in the way you would do it yourself.

Here we have every facility and safeguard for those who wish to leave their money in trust or to secure a reliable and experienced bank for an executor. We cordially invite you to call and talk it over with us.

BEETLE DOES

ITS PART IN PRINT PAPER SHORTAGE

Aspen Borer Is Helping To Kill Many Trees Used For Manufacture Of Soft Paper.

A gray-green beetle has much to do with the present shortage of paper. The beetle is the adult form of the aspen borer, a grub which often destroys whole plantations of the trees that is so essential to the pulp industry.

The beetle gnaws a slot in the bark and deposits one or two eggs therein. From these eggs come the trouble-making grubs that gnaw into the heart and sapwood and so riddle the tree that the first strong wind snaps the weakened timber.

Poplar and aspen—both very fast growing trees, and for this reason very valuable to manufacturers—are the objects of the borer's attacks. The imported Lombard poplar and the commercial cottonwood of the Mississippi valley are very seldom injured, but all other native varieties are damaged by the grub.

In some areas where poplar and aspen predominate, the standing dead, fallen, and dying trees exceed 50 per cent. of the total stand. A count made by the United States Department of Agriculture on a two-acre area of aspens in Colorado gave the following figures:

Total number of trees ..... 667
Number of living trees ..... 260
Number of dying trees ..... 34
Number of dead trees ..... 340
Number of infested trees ..... 33
Defective trees, 40 per cent. of total.
In festation by the borer is more prevalent between altitude of 6,500 and 8,000 feet. It has not been found above 9,000 feet.

The Department of Agriculture has carried out control experiments in various infested localities, and the experts find that the insect can be controlled, if not entirely eliminated by either of the following methods. The first consists in destroying the insect by cutting the brood trees. Brood trees are individual trees attacked several years in succession, and are readily identified by the scarred trunks and deformed branches. These are the breeding points of the borer, and a man with an ax can cut and pile 50 such trees in a day. The trees are piled and burned, or split over so that the wood is exposed to the sun.

The other method, not practical in forest, but applicable to shade trees, is the application of creosote or carbolineum to the egg scars. This should be done in October after the adults have deposited their eggs.

Further information regarding the life history, habits and control of the poplar borer is contained in Farmers' Bulletin 1154, which may be had upon request of the department at Washington, D. C.

BILLION DOLLARS

CAN BE RAISED BY PROTECTIVE TARIFF

Senator Curtis Tells How Much of the Tax Burden Can Be Lifted By The Protective Tariff.

Washington, D. C. — "Senator Curtis' estimate of a possible billion of customs revenue to be derived from the restoration of protective tariff rates is by no means overdrawn," declares the Republican Publicity Association, through its President, Hon. Jonathan Bourne, Jr. "The tariff situation today presents a startling example of how the Democratic assurance that lower rates meant increased revenues and decreased living costs failed to materialize. By the end of September of this year we had imported $4,358,000,000 worth of goods which paid $237,730,000 in duties, or an average ad valorem rate of about 6 per cent. During the first 9 months of 1913, the last under protection, we imported $1,327,000,000 worth of goods, which paid $237,730,000 in duties, or an average ad valorem of 18 per cent. Thus, in 1920 three and one-third times the imports of 1913 paid revenues something less than $27,000,000 in excess of those of 1913. This is a mighty big wash and a precious little hang-out. The Republican ad valorem applied to the Democratic imports would have split half a billion dollars more in revenues than was actually received.

"The Payne-Aldrich tariff law was a much maligned measure. During its life, 1909-13, its average ad valorem was under 20 per cent, while the Wilson-Gorman law of Democratic parentage, during its mill-killing career averaged over 21 per cent. The fault lay in the fact that the schedules of the latter were all out of joint. But Senator Curtis' estimate does not entail the adoption of tariffs prohibitively high. Along about 1899, 1900 the average ad valorem just shaded 30 per cent. Assuming that $3,500,000,000 worth of foreign goods can be annually absorbed by this country during the next decade without paralyzing domestic industries, it is plain that a 30 per cent ad valorem would realize $1,000,000,000 in revenue. At the present time, with goods coming in at the rate of $6,000,000,000 annually, about $200,000,000 in customs revenues is the most we can hope for by the end of the current year, this being at the 6 per cent. rate.

"During the fiscal year 1920 we imported $112,000,000 worth of cotton manufactures; $141,000,000 of hemp and linen; $97,000,000 of silk; $43,000,000 of wool; and $40,000,000 of leather. Of raw wool $213,000,000; vegetables oils, $195,000,000; bread stuffs, $60,000,000; meat and dairy products, $42,000,000; fruits, $50,000,000; vegetables, $47,000,000—these eleven schedules alone totaling $1,040,000,000. Our luxury imports for 1920 approximated another billion in value. A 30 per cent. average ad valorem applied to those imports would have yielded 50 per cent. of the Curtis estimate. Our agricultural and manufacturing interests must be protected and those who demand foreign luxuries should be willing to pay for them.

"There is today a disparity in wages American and foreign, greater than before the war. The man who was earning $2.50 a day in this country in 1913 is receiving $5.00 or more today. The man who was getting four shillings in Great Britain in 1913 is earning something like eight shillings now. Where the pre-war disparity between the American and the British was $1.50 a day, it is now $3.00. Hence, a tariff law based on the difference in cost of production at home and abroad, with labor costs accounting for from 60 to 80 per cent. of the total, might reasonably provide an average ad valorem rate of 30 per cent. without prohibiting importations to an extent which preclude foreign competitors from enjoying a fair share of the American market, and without jeopardizing our own export trade by way of foreign dis-criminations against our goods. But, of course, before any tariff law can be worth the effort required to draft it, 'the wage earner must give full return for the wage received.' Without that tariffs are unavailing and a healthy prosperity unattainable."

PEPTO-MANGAN BUILDS RED BLOOD

Restores the Quality of Your Blood Brings Back Your Color and Renews Vitality.

Personal charm is like a light. It sheds its rays everywhere. Is the light of your personal charm hidden under the bushel of bad blood? Instead of habitual smiles do you wear a tired look—almost a scowl? Do you tire easily? Are you pale and lacking in vital energy and ambition?

You are not really ill. Your blood has become weak and sluggish. It is half starved. What you need is the blood-making qualities of that splendid tonic, Pepto-Mangan. After you have taken Pepto-Mangan a little while you will feel a big improvement. The smiles will come back. People will see a difference in you. You will have plenty of rich, red blood and feel stronger.

Pepto-Mangan has been building red blood for years. Physicians prescribe it right along. It has just the ingredients that starved blood needs. Sold in liquid and tablet form. Both have the same effect. But be sure you get the genuine Pepto-Mangan. Ask for "Gude's" and be sure that the full name, "Gude's Pepto-Mangan," is on the package.—Advertisement.

UNCLE TED'S BED-TIME STORIES.

Baker Sets Slackers Free While Wounded Suffer.

"Yes, I know. When the next war comes all the yellow fellows will say they don't think it's right to fight, just so they can get out of it," said Jack in a very disgusted tone.

"What are you two kids fussing about now?" asked Uncle Ted from the other room. "Can't you play without fussing all the time?"

"Sure I can," replied Jack, "but Sister makes me tired when she says war is all wrong and that the fellows who wouldn't fight were all right. They were just plain yellow, that's all that was the matter with them."

"I don't know about that," said Uncle Ted, "but I do know that the War Secretary of War Newton D. Baker has treated the 'conscientious objectors' is something that no man who did fight in the war can swallow without feeling mighty funny. I fought in the war all the way through and—"

"You bet you did!" interrupted Jack.

"It is nothing to brag about, Jack. It was my duty. My country needed me and I did what was right. But to get back to what I was saying, I don't object so much to the kind way in which Secretary Baker has treated those men who refused to shoulder a rifle but I do object to the way this Administration has treated the wounded men who did fight and who are now almost forgotten. If a wounded man goes to the War Risk Bureau they send him to the Public Health Service and the Public Health Service sends him to the Vocational Education Bureau and they say they can't do anything until they hear from the War Risk. He is simply shoved from one place to the other.

"Just a little while ago several men from the American Legion met in Washington to try and remedy this condition. They will have a bill introduced in Congress to bring these three branches together so that the wounded men will receive better treatment and so that proper hospital quarters will be provided instead of the poor ones now in use."

"Didn't Secretary Baet let out a lot of those men who wouldn't fight?" asked Ruth.

"Yes, he did. He let out a lot of them long ago after they had rested in prison with good food and warm beds as compared with the kind of foods and beds the fighting men had to contend with. I know that the first men he let out received full army pay, too, for the time they were in prison. Now the latest thing Mr. Baker does is to issue an order which sets all of them free. There were 33 of them left. Mr. Baker in his order sets them free because he says their sentences were remitted to the peace-time basis for the offense charged. How he can figure that is more than I know. Why should he put their sentences on a peace-time basis when they refused to fight at a time when the country needed their fighting men—at a time when we were at war? Mr. Baker has certainly been most kind and gentle with these men and spent a lot of time seeing that they got it just as easy as possible—at least I can't see anything else to it. The case stands on its own merits.

"But as I said before, that isn't so bad as the way he has not thought of the men who did fight."

"Well, he won't have to worry about the objectors now so he ought to have a lot of time to think of the wounded men," said Jack.

"Yes, Jack," answered his Uncle, "that is very true and just what Col. Galbraith, head of the American Legion, said when he heard of Mr. Baker's order."

"However, kiddies, we won't have to work with Mr. Baker much longer. Which reminds me, that Senator Harding is mighty busy now deciding on a really big man to take his place and I'll make you both a little bet, that when he announces his cabinet you will find that every name in it is the name of one of the biggest men in the country, well fitted for the particular cabinet job which he will be asked to hold. It surely will be wonderful to look toward Washington and know that men who are there conducting public affairs are planning the best things for this country, first, last and all the time. There will be no playing or meddling with the business of other countries. There will be no trips to Paris or London as the self-appointed representative of American citizens. There will be an administration by business men that will do more to bring down the high cost of living and straighten out unrest than all the pleading 'may I not' letters in the world. Now you both run along to bed. Good night."

PLANS UNDER WAY TO REVISE THE TAX LAWS

Ways and Means Committee of House and Senate to Begin Hearings on Changes in Revenue Laws.

Washington, Dec. 8. — Republican members of Congress took the first step today toward revision of tax and tariff laws at the extra session to be called soon after next March.

Chairman Fordney, of the House Ways and Means Committee announced that his committee would begin hearing within a few days, on revision of the tax laws, these hearings to continue until January 6, when hearings will be started on tariff legislation. Almost simultaneously with Chairman Fordney's announcement, Senator McCumber of North Dakota, acting Chairman of the Senate Finance Committee, issued a call for a meeting of that committee for tomorrow when plans will be made for hearings similar to those contemplated by the House Committee.

The Senate and House Committees alike hope to conclude their hearings by the end of the present session. The House Committee, Chairman Fordney said, expects to be able to begin the work of drafting the new tax and tariff measures as soon as the extra session is convened. The Senate committee's hearings are expected to be briefer than those planned by the House Committee.

Chairman Fordney's announcement followed a conference of the majority members of the committee. He said that as soon as the committee had had time to study the tax recommendations contained in the annual report of Secretary Houston of the Treasury, sent to Congress today, he would invite Mr. Houston to appear before the committee and explain his views more fully. The Treasury Secretary will be asked to designate an official to represent him at the committee's sessions. The committee's program, the Chairman said, will be announced from day to day as the hearings proceed.

Chairman Fordney said today that he had in mind a definite plan for simplification of the tax on corporations.

One of his proposals is a flat tax on the incomes of all corporations "having no qualifications or other modifying provisions."

Mr. Fordney also said it was his desire "that the income tax laws be made so simple that a corporation will not have to hire an expert or a lawyer to figure how much it owes the government." The Ways and Means Chairman said that a study of Secretary Houston's report had shown him that the "estimates for government expenditures are ridiculously high."

"I can go down the list of estimates of the Secretary and chop out approximately a billion and a quarter dollars as unnecessary," Mr. Fordney said. "Just for example, he wants $181,000,000 for the War Risk Insurance Bureau. I think that is a hundred million dollars or more too high."

PENSION REPORT SHOWS DEATH OF MANY VETS

Veterans of the Civil War Are Fastly Thinning out Report of Pension Bureau to Congress Shows.

Washington, Dec. 9. — Pension disbursements for the fiscal year 1920 aggregated $213,295,314, according to the annual report of Commissioner Saltzgeber of the Pension Bureau, made public yesterday.

The figures showed a decrease of about $9,000,000 from 1919 totals, and the report recorded the death during the year of 27,871 Civil War pensioners, leaving 243,520 soldiers of that war on the pension roll in addition to 290,100 Civil War widows.

While no survivors of the War of 1812 were shown, seventy-one widows of soldiers in that war are receiving Government pensions. Only 148 Mexican War survivors were reported and 2,423 Mexican War widows. Survivors of the World War do not show on the roll. Their dependents alone are carried, such as invalids, widows, minor children and mothers for the period of the application of War Risk Insurance legislation.
